This offering does not constitute an offer of the Units to the public, and no public offer of Units in the Fund will be made. The Units are offered subject to the right of the Trustee to reject any subscription in whole or in part, and the Trustee and the Manager are not obliged to accept any applications.

1.5 Investment Documents

Any information provided in this Memorandum and in any other document or communication is subject to the Investment Documents. In making an investment decision, investors must rely on their own examination of the Fund and the terms of this offering, including the merits and risks involved. Prospective investors should read the Memorandum in its entirety and understand that the Memorandum is general in nature and is not to be considered as legal, tax, investment or accounting advice. Before making an investment decision in relation to the Fund, each prospective investor should consider whether investing in the Fund is suitable to their own individual circumstances, including their objectives, financial situation and needs, and is urged to consult with their own qualified advisors with respect to legal, tax, regulatory, financial and accounting consequences of investing in the Fund.

1.7 Statements

Recipients of this Memorandum should ensure they are fully aware of all these risks before investing in the Fund.

Potential investors should pay particular attention to the information in Section 6 – Risk Factors in this Memorandum. The distribution of this Memorandum and the offer and sale of the Units in certain jurisdictions may be restricted by law. This Memorandum does not constitute an offer to sell or the solicitation of an offer to buy in any state or any jurisdiction to any person to whom it is unlawful to make such offer or solicitation in such state or jurisdiction.

2. OPPORTUNITY

2.1 The Fund

Background

The Vestigo Investments Discovery Fund is a listed equities fund that employs a dual strategy to generate value for its clients.

The Fund targets a universe of high-quality companies that receive relatively low attention from sell-side analysts and investors and are often not included in mainstream global equity indices. The Fund Manager believes that as these high-quality companies become increasingly recognised by a broader range of investors, they will undergo a price re-rating, thus offering a structural alpha opportunity.

Additionally, the Fund seeks to identify companies with substantial long-term growth potential. Utilising its proprietary framework, the Fund identifies companies with the capacity to leverage this growth opportunity effectively and generate long-term compounding returns.

The foundation of this dual strategy is thorough fundamental analysis and a disciplined, consistent valuation framework, designed to ensure that the Fund invests at a fair price for the opportunities identified.

Investment portfolio

The Fund aims to construct a well-diversified portfolio, typically holding over 40 stocks at any given time, allowing investors to adopt a patient approach in recognising long-term growth opportunities.

Investment opportunities will be considered only in developed market countries included in the MSCI World Index, plus South Korea. The Fund intends to maintain no more than 20% of its asset value in cash, except on a short-term, transitional basis.

The Fund does not plan to invest in any securities that the Manager determines, acting reasonably, to be unlisted, hybrid, or pre-IPO securities. However, it may invest in rights issues and assets that the Manager determines, acting reasonably, to be quasi-equity instruments.

Individual security holdings will not exceed 10% of the Fund's asset value at the time of purchase, though this limit may be exceeded due to market movements or corporate actions (and the Fund will have no obligation to rebalance the portfolio).

The Fund will not engage in borrowing to invest in securities or use derivatives to leverage the Fund's value, except for derivatives used for currency hedging purposes.

Investment objective

The investment objective of the Fund is to outperform the MSCI World Small Cap Index (AUD, Net), after all charges, fees, expenses and costs, but before taking account of any tax or duty that may otherwise be payable by the Fund, over a 5 year rolling cycle, while reducing the risk of permanent capital loss through careful stock selection. There is no guarantee that this objective will be achieved.

Structure

The Fund is structured as a unit trust and has been established as an unregistered managed investment scheme. One Fund Services Ltd has been appointed as trustee of the Fund, with One Managed Investment Funds Limited as custodian and Unity Fund Services Pty Ltd as the administrator. One Registry Services Pty Limited will provide registry services.

2.2 Vestigo Investments

Background

The investment manager of the Fund is Vestigo Investments Pty Ltd, a wholly owned subsidiary of Vestigo Investments Holdings Limited. The Vestigo group of companies was founded by Gino Rossi, along with other investors, in 2023.

Vestigo Investment Pty Ltd has been appointed a corporate authorised representative of One Wholesale Fund Services Ltd AFSL 426503 for the purposes of providing financial services in connection with its role as investment manager of the Fund.

4. INVESTMENT STRATEGY AND PROCESS

4.1 Investment strategy

The Vestigo Investments Discovery Fund offers a best-in-class process designed to target structural alpha opportunities in developed equity markets. By focusing on a universe of companies that receive limited attention from sell-side analysts and investors, the potential for alpha increases and the portfolio benefits from a price re-rating as these high-quality companies are discovered by a broader investor base. There are few managers capable of investing globally in this space due to the need for independent research, expertise in the asset class, and the ability to navigate a large opportunity set.

Given the extensive universe of stocks available, the need to compromise is minimal, allowing the Fund to target best-of-breed companies. Furthermore, the majority of companies in the portfolio are expected to have a long runway for growth. Vestigo's proprietary framework is designed to identify which of these companies possess the greatest capacity to capitalise on this and become long-term wealth compounders.

The Fund invests as a minority shareholder, focusing on the future cash flows that will accrue to shareholders. It does not invest in businesses solely for their cash-backing or specific events (eg, takeovers), with demergers being an exception.

Due to the large universe of available stocks, the Fund can adopt a pure form of investing with minimal regard for arbitrary benchmarks. However, for measurement purposes, performance can be compared to the MSCI World Small Cap Index.

The Fund intends to remain near fully invested most of the time, while potentially raising cash levels in extreme circumstances (eg, Global Financial Crisis, Covid-19 Pandemic).

4.2 Investment Process

Vestigo's investment process is highly structured, with each step gated to ensure rigorous evaluation of a company. A stock must pass through each step without exception.

Idea Generation

Vestigo's proprietary framework is employed to screen the extensive universe of opportunities based on reported financial metrics. By relying on reported numbers rather than sell-side recommendations, Vestigo can identify highly differentiated opportunities that receive little market attention. This enhances the Fund's ability to capture the structural alpha available in this asset class due to low investor attention.

Investment Model

Once preliminary analysis indicates that a stock warrants further investigation, the analyst populates a detailed and structured template model. This process familiarises the analyst with the financial reports and helps them understand the key drivers of the business.

Stock Thesis

The analyst then completes a comprehensive Vestigo stock thesis template, thoroughly exploring the fundamentals of the business and its industry.

Team Presentation

After finalising the thesis, the analyst reviews and refines their model and forecasts. The analyst then presents the model and thesis to the team for peer review. Assumptions and the thesis are rigorously challenged. During this stage, the team also formulates key questions to be addressed in the upcoming management meeting.

Management Meeting

By scheduling the management meeting at the end of our due diligence process, the Manager aims to avoid selecting companies based on management's selling skills rather than the business fundamentals. At this stage, having a thorough understanding of the company allows us to drive the meeting and validate or challenge our hypothesis on the stock, rather than being swayed by a sales pitch. This approach minimises the risk of being influenced by a convincing "story" from management and fosters strong relationships with management, who appreciate our deep understanding of the company.

Other features of the investment process include:

Consistent valuation methodology

This ensures comparability between analysts. All assumptions are peer-reviewed to maintain rigor and accuracy.

Valuation discipline

With access to a large universe of opportunities, we maintain strict discipline around the price paid for a stock. If a stock appreciates to excessive levels, we are confident in our ability to replace any sold position with an equally attractive opportunity.

Risk management

The portfolio is meticulously curated to minimise volatility. We utilise and continuously enhance quantitative tools to optimise portfolio construction.

Regarding sustainability concerns, we recognise that the market can extend its outlook and begin pricing in long-term issues at any time, often magnifying declines or upswings. Therefore, we consider sustainability a significant risk, not merely a box-ticking exercise. We avoid investing in companies with clear sustainability risks that may attract increased government scrutiny. For companies with quantifiable risks, such as emissions or potential labour issues, we incorporate these into our models. If we cannot quantify these risks and they appear material, we will refrain from investing in such companies.

35	Disposal of Units	Transfer of Units in the Fund may only be made with the consent of the Trustee. The Trustee may refuse to enter a transfer on the register of Unitholders.
36	Information	Updated information on the Fund, including Unit pricing, will be available at https://www.vestigoinvest.com.au/. Investors may also contact Portfolio Manager Gino Rossi on +61 411 090 777 or rossig@vestigoinvest.com.au for further information.

38	Different classes	The Fund may issue Units of different classes or series. If the Fund issues Units of different classes or series, the issue prices and redemption prices with respect to a Unit will be calculated by reference to the values of the assets, liabilities and expenses attributable to the class or series to which the Unit belongs.
39	Side letters	The Trustee and Manager may (but are under no obligation to) enter into arrangements with any investors to meet their specific requirements (such as reporting and permitted transfers of interests).
40	Risks	The investment programme of the Fund is speculative and entails substantial risks. The Fund may be exposed to certain markets that are subject to inefficiency, unpredictability and political instability, all of which could cause loss of capital. Neither distributions nor a return of the investors' capital is guaranteed. There are a number of risk factors that could affect the performance of the Fund and the repayment of an investor's capital. Many risk factors fall outside of the Trustee's and the Manager's control and cannot be completely mitigated.

6. RISK FACTORS

Prospective investors should understand that there are and consider the risks associated with an investment in the Fund. Neither the Trustee nor the Manager guarantees any level of return to investors and the historic performance of investments managed by the Manager or respective affiliates and associates cannot be taken as an indication of the future performance of the Fund. Investors are advised to obtain independent financial, taxation and legal advice before investing.

While not exhaustive, the following risks should be considered prior to any investment:

Economy and market	Realisation of investments and returns will be subject to economic conditions in the general economy and a particular market (especially those that the Fund will invest in), and this may affect both the value of investments and the future performance of the Fund.
Changes in laws	There is a possibility that adverse consequences may arise for these investments because of amendments to statutes and regulations affecting the operations of the business having an adverse effect on the Fund. Changes in government and monetary policy, taxation and other laws may all have an impact on the Fund or investee companies, and therefore on the ultimate return achieved by investors.
Deal flow	Sourcing of deals can be difficult and lengthy process and increasingly competitive. The Fund may not be able to fully invest its capital at acceptable prices. The Manager may face unfavourable or a low volume of deal flow which may affect its ability to implement the Fund's investment strategy.
Leverage	The Fund's portfolio may include interests in companies that have significant debt in their capital structures. Investee companies with a leveraged capital structure have increased exposure to rising interest rates, refinance risk, economic downturns and deteriorations in the financial performance of the company. Leverage may also exacerbate losses.
Investee company failure	One or more investee companies acquired by the Fund could suffer financial difficulties or fail, leading to a loss of capital to investors. Follow-on funding may be required that may dilute the Fund's interest in an investment.
Co-Investment	The Fund may co-invest with third parties. Possible risks of such investments include investor financial difficulties, inconsistent interests or goals with the Fund, or the co-investor being in a position to take action contrary to the Fund's investment objectives.
Litigation	The Fund's investments may be subject to litigation or legal proceedings, which may have an adverse effect on the value of the investment and its operations.
Due diligence	There is a risk that the legal, financial and tax due diligence conducted on, and research and analysis of, investments may not identify all issues associated with the investment that may cause a loss to the Fund.
Taxation risk	Changes to tax laws, interpretation or practice could adversely affect the tax treatments of an investment in the Fund (including the tax treatment of the Fund's investments).

Departure risk

The departure of skilled and key employees within the management team may impact the ability of the Manager to implement its investment strategy. The termination of the appointment of the Manager, the resignation of the Trustee or other service providers, or the termination of the Fund (or a class of Units) in accordance with the Trust Deed, may also impact the ability of the Fund to achieve the investment objectives.

Control positions

The Fund may assume control positions in portfolio companies. The exercise of control over a company may impose additional risks of liability for environmental damage, product defects, failure to supervise management, violation of governmental regulations and other types of liability in which the limited liability generally characteristic of business operations may be ignored. Control positions could also expose the assets of the Fund to claims by a portfolio company, its other security holders, its creditors or governmental agencies, which may exceed the value of the Fund's initial investment in that portfolio company.

Availability of insurance against certain catastrophic losses

Certain losses of a catastrophic nature, such as wars, earthquakes, typhoons, terrorist attacks or other similar events, may be either uninsurable or insurable at such high rates that to maintain such coverage would cause an adverse impact on the related investments. In general, losses related to terrorism are becoming harder and more expensive to insure against. Some insurers exclude terrorism coverage from their all-risk policies. Further, there is a risk that the Fund may incur a loss that is not fully covered by insurance and, accordingly, the value of the Fund's investment may decrease which in turn may affect the Fund's financial performance.

Privacy, information security and data breaches

The Trustee, the Manager and other service providers to the Fund process, store and transmit personal and confidential information through their respective technology systems and networks. Threats to information security are constantly evolving and techniques used to perpetrate cyber-attacks are increasingly sophisticated.

The Trustee, the Manager or other service providers may not always be able to anticipate a security threat, data breach or technological failure, or be able to implement effective information security policies, procedures and controls to prevent or minimise the resulting damage. The Trustee, the Manager and other service providers to the Fund may also inadvertently retain information which is not specifically required or is not permitted by legislation, thus increasing the impact of a potential data breach or non-compliance.

A successful cyber-attack, data breach or technological failure, could persist for an extended period before being detected and, following detection, it could take considerable time for the Trustee, the Manager or other service providers to obtain full and reliable information about the incident and the extent, amount and type of information compromised. During an investigation, the Trustee, the Manager or other service providers may not necessarily know the full effects of the incident or how to remediate it, and actions and decisions that are taken or made to mitigate risk may further increase the costs and other negative consequences of the incident.

A breach of security may result in operational disruption, theft or loss of customer data, a breach of privacy laws, regulatory enforcement actions, customer redress, litigation, financial losses, or loss of market share, property or information. This may be wholly or partially beyond the control of the relevant entity and may adversely impact its financial performance and position.

These factors may also adversely affect the value of the Units.

Lack of operating history

The Fund is a newly formed trust with no operating history upon which to evaluate the Fund's likely performance or success of the Fund's intended investment strategy.

Competitors

Competing businesses including those with superior products or technologies may adversely affect an investee which may have a material adverse effect on returns to investors. The introduction of new competitors or a more aggressive competitive response from existing participants may affect the operating performance of an investee. There is no assurance that an investee will be able to compete successfully in its marketplace and any increase in competition could adversely affect the earnings of an investee.

Currency risks

Currency movements relative to the Australian dollar can cause changes in the value of your investments.

Side letters

The Trustee or the Manager may enter into other written agreements with one or more investors without the consent or approval of any other investors. These side letters may supplement the terms of the Investment Documents with respect to such investor and may entitle an investor to make an investment in the Fund on terms that vary from those described herein.

Indemnity

The Fund will indemnify certain persons in respect of any claims, losses, liabilities, costs or expenses incurred in connection with the Fund, which may result in a loss of capital for Investors. The Investment Documents also limit the circumstances under which the Trustee and the Manager and their respective officers, directors, partners, employees, shareholders, affiliates and other agents can be held liable to the Fund. As a result, investors may have a more limited right of action in certain cases than they would have in the absence of such a limitation.

Valuation risk

The value per Unit is expected to fluctuate over time with the performance of the Fund's investments. An investor may not fully recover its initial investment when it chooses to redeem its Units or upon compulsory redemption if the value per Unit at the time of such redemption (as reduced by any applicable fee) is less than the subscription price paid by such investor or if there remain any unamortised costs and expenses of establishing the Fund.

Valuation of the Fund's investments may involve uncertainties and judgmental determinations, and if such valuations should prove to be incorrect, the value per Unit could be adversely affected.

The Fund may have some of its assets in investments which may be difficult to accurately value. Additionally, independent pricing information may not at times be available regarding certain of the Fund's investments. To the extent that the value assigned by the Fund to any such investment differs from the actual value, the value per Unit may be understated or overstated.

If the value per Unit is either understated or overstated, an investor who redeems all or part of its Units may be paid, and new investors (or existing investors making additional investments) could pay, an amount that is more or less than the value designated by the Fund (as the case may be).

Investee risks

The price or liquidity of instruments in a market may be materially affected by a variety of factors. Securities and commodity exchanges typically have the right to suspend or limit trading in any instrument traded on that exchange. It is also possible that a governmental authority may suspend or restrict trading on an exchange or in particular securities or other instruments traded.

In such circumstances it may be difficult to acquire or dispose of such investments readily at the prices at which they are recorded, and such transactions may be subject to increased transaction costs or delayed settlement. Accordingly, the ability of a Fund investment's value to respond to market movements may be impaired and the Fund may experience adverse price movements upon liquidation of its investments.

Compulsory withdrawal

Investors may have their Units compulsorily withdrawn from the Fund in accordance with the Investment Documents, including in circumstances where the investor is in breach of the Investment Documents or made a misrepresentation in acquiring its Units.

The above risks are not exhaustive of all risks of investing in the Fund. Investors should rely on their own enquires and assessments in relation to the Fund.

7. CERTAIN LEGAL MATTERS

7.1 Privacy

This Memorandum and the application form relating to the Fund requires you to provide personal information. The Trustee and the Manager may collect, hold and use your personal information in order to assess your application, service your needs as a client or investor, provide facilities and services to you, the Trustee, the Manager or the Fund and for other purposes permitted under the Privacy Act.

Tax and company laws also require some of the information to be collected in connection with your application. If you do not provide the information requested, your application may not be able to be processed efficiently, or at all.

Your information may be disclosed to affiliates, agents or service providers of the Trustee and the Manager on the basis that they deal with such information in accordance with the privacy policy of the Manager. The Trustee and the Manager do not currently transfer your personal information overseas. If your personal information is transferred overseas in future, you will be notified through an amendment to the privacy policy.

The Trustee and the Manager may also need to disclose information about you to government entities and regulators as required by law.

Your information may be used to inform you about investment opportunities or other matters that the Manager thinks may be of interest to you. Contact the Manager if you do not want your personal information to be used for this purpose.

The privacy policy of the Manager is available on request. The Trustee's Privacy Policy is at www.oneinvestment.com.au and a copy is available, free of charge, by contacting the Trustee on +61 2 8777 0000.

7.2 Anti-Money Laundering

The Trustee is required to comply with the AML Act. The Trustee may require you to provide personal information and documentation in relation to your identity and that of any beneficial owner, when you purchase Units in the Fund. The Trustee may need to obtain additional information and documentation from you when undertaking transactions in relation to your investment.

The Trustee may need to identify:

- (a) an investor (the Trustee will not issue Units in the Fund until all relevant information has been received and your identity and that of any beneficial owner, has been satisfactorily verified);
- (b) your estate – if you die while you are the owner of Units in the Fund, the Trustee may need to identify your legal personal representative prior to redeeming Units in the Fund or transferring ownership; and
- (c) anyone acting on your behalf, including your power of attorney.

In some circumstances, the Trustee may need to re-verify this information.

By applying to invest in the Fund, you also acknowledge that the Trustee and the Manager may decide to delay or refuse any request or transaction, if information that is requested is not provided or if it is concerned that the request or transaction may breach any obligation of, or cause it to commit or participate in an offence under, the AML Act, and the Trustee and the Manager will incur no liability to you if it does so.

7.3 Conflict of Interest and Related Party Transactions

Subject to the Corporations Act and the Investment Documents, each of the Trustee, Manager and their employees, officers, advisers and associates may from time to time:

- (a) act in various capacities (such as adviser, manager and responsible entity/trustee to another fund vehicle) in relation to, or be otherwise involved in (such as by way of investment), other business activities that may be aligned or in competition with the Units of investors in the Fund;
- (b) deal with each other in relation to the Fund (such as the Fund acquiring investments from other funds managed by the Manager) in which case the dealing will generally be on arms' length terms or approved by investors in the Fund;
- (c) invest in and deal in any capacity, with the same investments as that of the Fund, on similar or different terms;
- (d) establish investment vehicles that may co-invest in the investments of the Fund; and
- (e) recommend that investments be purchased or sold, on behalf of the Fund, regardless of whether at the same time it may buy, sell or recommend, in the same or in a contrary manner, the purchase or sale of identical investments in relation to itself or other clients.

The Manager may aggregate orders or investment allocations of the Fund with all or some of the other accounts that it manages. The Manager has established internal policies and procedures to identify and appropriately manage any conflicts of interest arising in relation to the Fund.

Where the Manager considers that a particular conflict of interest is likely to have a materially adverse effect on investors in the Fund it will seek to implement adequate arrangements to mitigate and prevent (where practicable) adverse effects on investors in the Fund. In certain cases, the Manager may disclose the conflict of interest to investors in the Fund and obtain their consent for the Trustee or Manager (and other persons if relevant) to proceed in the context of that conflict of interest.

8. CERTAIN TAX CONSIDERATIONS

8.1 Introduction

This section provides an overview of the relevant Australian income tax, GST and stamp duty implications for investors investing in the Fund.

The purpose of this summary (Tax Summary) is to provide investors with a general overview of the Australian tax and stamp duty implications of an investment in the Fund. The taxation comments contained in this Tax Summary are general in nature and should not be taken to constitute taxation advice, financial advice or a recommendation to invest.

This Tax Summary is relevant for investors that are either residents of Australia for tax purposes (Local Investors) or non-residents of Australia for tax purposes (Foreign Investors) (together Investors).

This Tax Summary should be read in conjunction with the legal agreements and deeds governing the Fund.

In all cases, Investors should seek professional advice in respect of the Australian tax and stamp duty implications of acquiring, holding or disposing of the Units in the Fund, as the tax and stamp duty consequences for any Investor will depend on their own specific circumstances. In addition, Foreign Investors should obtain their own tax advice relevant to their country of residence prior to acquiring Units in the Fund.

It is important to note that this Tax Summary is based on the assumption that Investors hold Units in the Fund on capital account. Whether or not Units in the Fund are held on capital account is a question of fact to be determined in the context of each Investor's individual circumstances.

Different tax implications apply to Investors whose Units are held on revenue account, held as trading stock (as defined by the ITAA97), or are instruments to which the taxation of financial arrangements rules in Division 230 of the ITAA97 apply.

8.2 Disclaimer

The Australian tax and stamp duty comments in this Tax Summary are general in nature and the individual circumstances of each Investor may affect the tax and stamp duty implications of the investment of that Investor.

Investors should seek appropriate independent professional advice that considers the taxation implications in respect of their own specific circumstances.

Both the Trustee and the Manager disclaim all liability to any Investor or any other party for any costs, loss, damage and liability that the Investor or any other party may suffer or incur, arising from or relating to, or in any way connected with the contents of, this Tax Summary or the provision of this Tax Summary, to the Investor or any other party, or the reliance on this Tax Summary by the Investor or any other party.

8.3 Overview of the potential Australian tax implications of the Fund

Treatment of Fund and distributions from Fund

The Australian tax implications of the operation of the Fund will depend on whether the Fund will qualify as a managed investment trust (MIT) for a given financial year and the Trustee makes a choice that the Fund is an attribution managed investment trusts (AMIT).

If the Fund is not an AMIT (and is not a public trading trust)

If the Fund is not an AMIT (and is not a public trading trust – refer below), the ordinary trust taxation provisions will apply to the Fund, which tax Investors on a present entitlement basis. This means that Investors will be taxed on the Fund taxable income by reference to amounts to which they are made presently entitled, regardless of if that income is actually distributed to them or not.

Before the end of the relevant financial year, the Trustee of the Fund will calculate the net income of the Fund for tax purposes and this will be allocated to Investors in proportion to their entitlement to distributable income from the Fund for that particular year. The net income allocated to investors by the Fund must be included in the Investor's income tax return in the income year in which the entitlement arises, even where the distribution is received in the following year.

Provided Investors are made presently entitled to all of the net Fund income for the income year (which is the Trustee's intention if the Fund is not an AMIT), there will be no amount on which the Trustee of the Fund will be taxed.

Foreign Investors should obtain their own advice in relation to the requirements for the Trustee of the Fund to pay tax on behalf of Foreign Investors and any lodgement requirements for Foreign Investors.

If the Fund qualifies as a MIT and AMIT

Where the Fund qualifies as a MIT, the Trustee intends to make an irrevocable capital account election which will entitle the Fund to be able to adopt capital account income tax treatment for certain types of assets (including shares) for all income years in which the election applies.

The Trustee may, where the Fund is eligible, also make an irrevocable election to become an AMIT.

Where the Fund is an AMIT:

- (a) The Fund is treated as a fixed trust for tax purposes.
- (b) Investors should be assessable in respect of the 'determined trust components' of the taxable income of the Fund attributed to the Investor by the Trustee for an income year. Determined trust components will be attributed between Investors on a fair and reasonable basis in accordance with the Trust Deed of the Fund.
- (c) All of the Fund's taxable income for an income year must be attributed to Investors, however it is not required that the Fund distribute all trust income that has been attributed to Investors.
- (d) After the end of an income year, the Trustee will provide Investors with an AMIT Member Annual Statement (AMMA Statement) which sets out the amounts and components (together with any applicable tax offsets, such as franking credits) attributed to that Investor for the year.
- (e) Broadly, where an Investor is attributed income in an AMMA Statement that is more or less than the amount distributed to the Investor (together with applicable tax offsets), this may give rise to an increase or decrease in the Investor's cost base in their Units for capital gains tax (CGT) purposes. If an Investor's cost base in their Unit is reduced to nil, any further cost base reduction amounts could give rise to a capital gain for the Investor in the relevant year. Investors should ensure they maintain records of the CGT cost base in their Units.
- (f) Where an Investor disagrees with the Trustee's allocation of taxable income in the Investor's AMMA Statement, the Investor may give a 'member choice' to the Commissioner of Taxation.

Public trading trust provisions

A unit trust may be taxed as a company where it carries on (or controls another entity that carries on) trading activities other than eligible investment business activities and the unit trust is a public unit trust. A unit trust will be regarded as a public unit trust if it either:

- (a) has 50 or more unit holders (directly or indirectly through other trusts);
- (b) makes an offer or invitation of its units to the public; or
- (c) has its units listed for quotation on a stock exchange.

Eligible investment business activities include passive activities, such as investing in stock or other securities and shares in a company (that are not controlling interests in a trading entity).

The Trustee intends to limit the activities of the Fund to eligible business activities (i.e. investing in shares, stock or other securities). Furthermore, the Trustee will seek to ensure it does not control any entity that carries on trading activities. On this basis, the Trustee does not expect that the Fund will be a trading trust and therefore should not be a public trading trust.

Accordingly, the Trustee does not expect that the public trading trust provisions will apply to the Fund as the Fund should not qualify as a trading trust for tax purposes.

Distributions of dividend income

Where a Local Investor receives a distribution from the Fund attributable to a franked dividend received by the Fund (Distribution), the Local Investor will be required to include both the amount of the Distribution received and any attached franking credit in their assessable income in the year in which the Distribution is paid.

Subject to the Local Investor satisfying the “45-day rule” (discussed below), the Local Investor should be entitled to offset the amount of the franking credit against any income tax otherwise payable.

Where this offset exceeds the amount of tax otherwise payable, certain individuals, tax exempt entities and superannuation fund Investors should currently be entitled to a refund of the difference.

Broadly, to satisfy the “45-day rule”, an Investor must hold their Units in the Fund (which in turn holds the relevant shares) “at risk” for a period of at least 45 days. The rules around the “45-day rule”, and particularly the concept of holding an interest “at risk”, are complex. For this reason, Investors should seek clarification from their tax advisor regarding their ability to claim the benefit of any franking credits attached to Distributions that are attributable to franked dividends received by the Fund from investments in shares.

Individual Investors will not be required to satisfy the “45-day rule” (discussed above) to the extent that they receive less than A$5,000 of franking credits from all their investments each income year.

The Trustee of the Fund will generally be required to withhold an amount from distributions paid to Foreign Investors to the extent the distributions comprise unfranked dividends.

The applicable withholding tax rate is 30% of the unfranked part of a dividend. The franked part of a dividend is not subject to withholding tax.

However, where the Foreign Investor is a resident of a country with which Australia has concluded a double tax agreement, the withholding tax rate may be lower, provided that the Foreign Investor is entitled to the benefits of that double tax agreement. The rate can also vary depending on if the Fund qualifies as a ‘withholding MIT’.

Australian withholding tax on dividends and interest constitute a final tax for Australian income tax purposes.

Distribution of capital gains

Income of the Fund attributed to Investors may also include capital gains derived by the Fund. Where the Fund derives net capital gains to which Investors become entitled, Investors may need to include these amounts in their assessable income. Investors will generally be required to double any discounted capital gains. The CGT discount may then be available for some Investors, as outlined below.

The attribution of a capital gain income from the Fund to a Foreign Investor may result in the Trustee having to withhold an amount and pay that amount to the Australian Taxation Office.

A withholding rate of 15% applies if the Foreign Investor resides in a country with which Australia has an information exchange agreement or 30% where the Foreign Investor resides in a non-information exchange country and the income distributed to the Investor comprises a capital gain from taxable Australian property (see below for further detail).

No withholding tax applies in respect of attribution of income to an Investor who is resident in Australia, and who has provided their Australian Tax File Number (TFN) or Australian Business Number (ABN) to the Trustee. See below for further detail.

Disposal of Units in the Fund

When an Investor disposes of their Units in the Fund, the disposal may give rise to a capital gain or capital loss for the Investor under Australia's CGT regime.

If a capital loss arises on disposal of the Units, the capital loss may only be offset against any current or future capital gains derived by the Investor.

Investors (other than Foreign Investors) who have held their Units for more than 12 months may be entitled to a CGT discount on any capital gain they make on the disposal of their Units. The rate of the CGT discount is 50% for individuals and trusts and 33.33% for complying superannuation entities. Companies are not entitled to the CGT discount.

Australian CGT will apply to Foreign Investors in relation to the disposal of Units in the Fund only to the extent that the Units are "taxable Australian property". Foreign Investors are not entitled to the CGT discount. Broadly, Units in the Fund will constitute "taxable Australian property" where:

- (a) the Units in the Fund are held by the Foreign Investor through a permanent establishment in Australia; or
- (b) both of the following conditions are satisfied:
 - (i) the Foreign Investor has held 10% or more of the Units in the Fund (calculated on an associate-inclusive basis), either at the time of disposal, or over any continuous 12 month period in the two years prior to the disposal; and
 - (ii) the underlying value of the Units in the Fund is principally derived from taxable Australian real property (TARP). This requires that the market value of TARP held directly or indirectly by the Fund is more than the market value of non-TARP held directly or indirectly by the Fund.

TARP includes real property situated in Australia, and other rights such as mining, quarrying and prospecting rights. An assessment of whether the Fund holds the requisite level of TARP would need to be made by the Foreign Investor at the time of any disposal (although the Government has announced changes to the tax rules which are intended to replace the testing time with a 365-day test period – Foreign Investors should seek advice from a suitably qualified tax advisor in respect of the impact the proposed changes may have on them if and when the changes are implemented). This is a question of fact, and may change as the Fund acquires or disposes of assets.

The Trustee does not expect the Units in the Fund will be taxable Australian property, but this should be confirmed by the Foreign Investor prior to disposal of Units.

8.4 Pay as you go (PAYG) withholding

The collection of an Investor's TFN is authorised and its use is strictly regulated by law. Where an Investor does not quote their TFN or claim an exemption, the trustee of the Fund is required to deduct from their distributions, tax at the highest marginal rate (plus the Medicare levy for Local Investors). Business taxpayers may quote an ABN instead of a TFN.

Investors may be able to claim an income tax credit for any amounts withheld in their relevant tax return.

8.5 Goods and Services Tax

No GST should be payable in respect of the initial issue of Units in the Fund. However, GST may be payable on certain fees payable by the Fund (including the trustee fee). The Fund may not be able to claim a full input tax credit for the GST paid on these fees. However, the Fund may be eligible to claim reduced input tax credits (of either 75% or 55% of the GST paid) in respect of some of the fees charged to the Fund, depending on the type of fee.

Further, Investors may incur GST on acquisitions that relate to their investment in the Fund. Such acquisitions may include legal, accounting and financial advisory services. The availability to claim back input tax credits in relation to such acquisitions will depend on a number of factors, including whether the Investor is GST registered. Investors should obtain independent advice on their entitlement to input tax credits, as required.

8.6 Stamp duty

No stamp duty should be payable by Investors in respect of their initial acquisition of Units in the Fund.

Dealings in Units in the Fund can give rise to stamp duty in Australia if the Fund directly or indirectly holds interests in land in an Australian State or Territory, certain economic entitlements in relation to Victorian land or dutiable property in Queensland.

Each Investor should seek their own stamp duty advice in respect of their initial investment in Units, and also any other contemplated dealings which affect their Units including future disposals, further acquisitions or redemptions.

8.7 Foreign Account Tax Compliance Act (FATCA) and Common Reporting Standard (CRS)

In compliance with the US income taxation laws commonly referred to as FATCA and the Intergovernmental Agreement signed with the Australian Government in relation to FATCA, the Fund will be required to provide information to the ATO in relation to:

- (a) Investors that are US citizens or residents;
- (b) entities controlled by US persons; and
- (c) financial institutions that do not comply with FATCA.

The Fund is intending to comply with relevant FATCA obligations and to conduct appropriate due diligence (as required). Where Investors do not provide appropriate information to the Fund, the Fund will also be required to report those accounts to the ATO.

The CRS is the single global standard for the collection, reporting and exchange of financial account information on foreign tax residents. Under this regime, banks and other financial institutions must collect and report to the ATO, financial account information on non-residents. Australian financial institutions, including the Fund, are required under the CRS to conduct due diligence and collect certain information, from Investors.

By applying to invest in the Fund, Investors represent and warrant to the Trustee and the Manager that they, their agent, or their nominated representative will provide the Trustee and the Manager with all additional information and assistance that may be requested by the Trustee or the Manager to enable them to comply with their ongoing obligations under any CRS laws.
